G. FOWLER

So much mother. Father dearer. I was thinking of you all day on the 22nd and only wishing I could be with you as two years ago on Saturday morning I went in for especially to get your little gift and had such a pain that I thought we had better hurry home.
My dear darling girl;

Altho they let me write a few lines to the little girl I have been thinking of and writing all the time I have been in bed.

Today I took one step and am sitting up for an hour and a half.

Oh Father darling girl

My to be a big. George it is proud of him and wants to look at him all the time. He has big blue eyes and comes on says a fowler through and through Wasn't it funny that Margaret's little girl came the same day. I am sure to beat her to it because Tommy arrived at twenty minutes past twelve Sunday morning.

precious letters have meant so so much to me, and I had such a break when I was allowed to read them.

I never did know there was such a full over things but apparently we had missed after the little land arrived.

I am to it such a darling and I am longing for you and your dear little mother to see him. Wasn't he a bad little

When the little man is being nursed he always has his head on the dear little pillow you made him. I have two others which he will never use because they aren't Sam's and so hard in comparison.

George had to go to the Ranch yesterday but will be back again soon. I could hardly bear to lose him but am longing to go myself and it has to be ready.
All my love darling to you always
