Dear Lamm:—

I can't tell you how distressed I am not to see you again. I had to look forward to it!

I wanted to "play"

music with you, and also hoped I might help you a little with it. Never mind — you look around for us, for a bungalow for us, next summer, and near you, & I certainly hope to come. I shall write you about it — later in the winter. It just seems too bad.

Love to see you in Denver and then not to see you. For—I like you so much—and I felt you eager, living spirit, so much more than I have been able to tell you.

I am only here for a day or so more, & then return to my sister—where we will stay—until Sept. 11.

It is very lovely here—just from home from Frisco. The sand is dazzling white, and the

They always a vivid blue.
The sea is dark blue, striped with purple.
The cliffs are covered with yellow poppies—Can you see the wonderful color scheme? There is a beautiful forest of cypress trees near by, all twisted and gnarled into fantastic shapes, such as one frequently seen painted on Japanese fans and screens. These trees are said to be 2000 years old.

Well, dear Laura, this will be my last letter until I receive the Post. Do write to me this winter - and I will answer as often as I can - My dearest love to you - And don't - forget - me -
Your affectionate friend, Anne Smay.
