My dear Miss Gilpin

I wonder if it's Christmas rush, or journeys, or lost manuscript, or extreme disgust that is the matter.

I tried to send the script to you before you left New York, but anything may have happened to it. If you didn't receive it, will you let me know so I can send you a duplicate?

There is no need to return the script, but we are holding off publication dates until we hear from you. I hope the new year will bring you all your heart desires.

Very cordially,

Wilde & Helms.
