My dear Laura:

Your letter has come this morning but gives me no light on why you wrote to Mrs. Ulmann and she considered the matter public property.

I beg of you do not write to Mr. Drew. I shall write to tell him how this happened for I fear he may think my writing to you was inexcusable. As it has turned out, I think it was.

No one here yesterday would listen for a minute to the idea of the P.P.A. sending out that letter and of course it seems a strange idea to be begging for two books at the same time and the P.P.A. is committed to an Annual.

Very sincerely but hastily,

Antoinette B. Hervey
