Dear Mr. Gilpin
Just as I was leaving the time to come down town, Mrs.
Fitch sent over word
that you and your children are in deep sorrow.

I hasten to send to you all our most loving sympathy.

When Mrs. Turret and I were wintering at the Star Ranch over twenty years ago, Helen Andrus brought Mrs.
Silpin out to see us.
That began a very real friendship that has deepened with the years.

We shall always remember this rare
soul who has so blessed the world and who was surely ready

live on this earth a little longer than others.
All any of us can do is to make up
to our chance without courage and faith and a spirit of sacrifice.
This our Father has done. and it is my faith - that such lives never die.

Words are poor things
at a time like this.
But human sympathy
always counts. And I want you and Lamma
and Lamma to know that you have our sympathy in fullest
measure.

Faithfully yours,
