Dear Mr. Thomas:

Your letter regarding the coming Salon was received sometime ago. At the moment I cannot think of anyone to whom you could send entry blanks who would not already be on your list.

May I inquire again whether my print "Sardines" shown in your Salon in 1926 has ever been found. I have written several times concerning it but to date have had no definite reply. I presume the print must have been enclosed in someone else's package and has not been returned to you. Is there any way that it could be traced?

With best wishes for the success of your coming exhibition, I am

Very truly yours,
