Dear Sir:

In 1927 and again in 1928 I sent you photographs to be reproduced in your magazine.
I understood that I was to receive a remuneration for these. Up to the present time I have never heard whether you received the photographs and if you reproduced them. I would be glad to hear from you in this regard and also would be pleased to have a copy of the magazine.

Very truly yours,

Dear Madam,

We saw your beautiful picture "The house of the Cliff Dweller" in THE AMERICAN ANNUAL OF PHOTOGRAPHY 1928, page 77, and beg to give us right of first reproduction in Germany for one issue of our paper, which belongs to the best monthly papers in Germany. We need only one print of the picture suitable for reproduction and beg to send it at your earliest convenience. We also should be obliged for a collection of pictures not yet reproduced in Germany unobligatory for our choice.

Under separate cover you receive one copy of our paper.

Thanking you in advance,

we remain, dear Madam,

Yours faithfully
