ALICE MARY KIMBALL
FORTY-SIX KING STREET
NEW YORK

Thursday

My dear Laura Gilpin:

Mrs. Rippin says to go ahead with the photographs of teen-age girls. She says that $100 for the six is a very satisfactory price. I think it may be interesting to vary the ages. It will be all according to the kind of material you find. The main thing is to get that innocent, springtime look that makes every man long to protect the damsel, or a roguish madcap look .. well, you know. We are going to use them for covers and frontispieces. If you can get them to me by May 15, I shall be much delighted. Better send them to my house instead of the Girl scout Headquarters where some other department might ~~mm~~ mistake them for their treasure. I'll take them at once to Mrs. Rippin and tell her ~~mm~~ how useful ~~they~~ they'll be and get her interested in ordering more.

Cordially,

Alice Mary Kimball
