

MUSEUM OF SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY

FOUNDED BY JULIUS ROSENWALD
1523 East 53rd Street, Chicago

September 5, 1933

Mr. George H. High, Chairman,
International Photographic Salon Committee,
A Century of Progress,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. High:

This letter will serve to summarize the results of our conference of Friday, September 1st. The Museum of Science and Industry would like to obtain for its permanent collection selected examples of photographic art now on display in the International Salon at A Century of Progress. Naturally, we are very much impressed with the adaptability of these outstanding prints to certain features of the development of the Museum. We have three main purposes in mind:

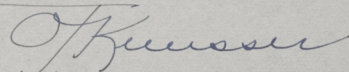

1. Prints to serve as examples of leading photographic processes and their applications to different types of subject.
2. Illustrative material of technical and artistic value for use in the presentation of scientific and industrial exhibits.
3. Outstanding specimens of an international character.

You will note that we have asked for at least one print from each country represented in the Salon. We should like to extend an invitation to your exhibitors to contribute the prints checked off in your catalogue.

I take this opportunity to thank you again for the time and attention you are giving to the development of the Museum's photographic exhibit. It is just such assistance from the leaders of the art which will make ours an institution of international significance.

Yours very truly,

Museum of Science and Industry

O. T. Kreusser
Director

OTK:ms