My dear Miss Gilpin:

While visiting in Washington recently, we greatly admired your photographs of Indians of the Southwest which were on exhibition at the Library of Congress. We thought they represented the most beautiful work in photography we had ever seen.

The ownership of some copies of these photographs would be most desirable as we have travelled in that section of the country and the subjects are fairly familiar and most interesting. Any information which you might care to send as to prices and subjects available would be most welcome.

Very truly yours,

H. P. Greenlay
