

Feb. 7. 35.

My dearest Larra,

Under separate cover I am returning to you the two books of Priests;
with the answers to your questions on your letter itself in my letter.

I do hope I have been clear, also complete.

To be as well as possible, and don't try to be too prompt with your work, it isn't a bit interesting to take time in which to get well but it does pay. I am so sorry that you and your father have had such a siege. it is a trial I have the household all laid up at one and the same time.

We have had steady rains of late, are quite ready to divide with you.

All California is a bright green.

Always yours aff.

Mark Twain.
