Dear Miss Gilpin:

~~14~~ ^{fourteen} We have returned to you today the ~~fourteen~~ ^{fourteen} photographs of yours we have had at the Gallery. Thank you for having let us keep them so long. I'm sorry we were never able to do more with them.

As for additional photographs, for the time being we are doing very little with photographs, having scheduled only one show for the season, our opening exhibition. Somehow we have never been able to make photographs pay. People come in droves to all photographic shows, but selling them has been quite a different matter. Therefore we have been specializing in the more profitable painting and drawing lines and eventually we will probably drop photographs entirely. Personally I hate doing it, but from a Gallery standpoint it seems impossible to make a business of them.

However, should there ever be a revival of interest, I shall let you know (as I have long admired your work) and perhaps you will send us again some of your photographs.

Very sincerely

Julien Levy
