

November 17, 1942.

Mr. Clarence White, Jr.,
32 W. 74th Street,
New York City.

Dear Clarence, Jr.:

It was very kind of you to write me such a long and interested letter, and I was happy indeed for news of all of you.

I saw Col. Shepherd and had an interview with him a week ago. They definitely preferred to have me. Just at that time I also had an excellent offer from the Boeing Airplane Company in Wichita, Kansas, to take the position as public relations photographer. This I have accepted and I am leaving here Saturday to begin work next Monday.

I am sorry indeed that the school has closed for the duration and sincerely hope that you will be back in full force when the war is over. I do most earnestly hope that you get your assignment in the Navy and that whatever it is you will find it to your liking.

Do remember me to your mother when you write, and also to Louis and Maynard.

With the best of wishes for your success, and again many thanks for your letter, I am,

Very truly yours,

LG/L
