Dear Miss Gilpin:

Am enclosing balance of the rent, and hope it hasn't inconvenienced you too much. In order for us to send it to you, we had to collect from our students also, which seems almost impossible around Christmas time.

I have alot of work to get out, so I cannot write very much about different things, but everyone who calls for you I tell them where you are so that they can get in touch with you. Is this all right?

Miss Gilpin, some of the paper that you left is too old to use. We have tried several of the different ones, but they just don't work out. I'll write more in particular later. We do enjoy the studio though - It's very handy. How do you get along on your new job? Do you like it? Hoping that you have a merry Christmas and a happy new year. I am,
Sincerely
Mrs. Winston
