Dear Sirs:-

My print cabinet arrived yesterday in excellent shape except that one of the hand wrought iron door handles was broken off. At first I thought that this must be due to transit but I found the broken off handle inside one of the drawers.

Some months ago when I went through a lot of my things I knew that this was not broken as I was hunting for something which was inside at that time. So I presume that this must have happened when getting the chest out or while it was being crated. I had great difficulty opening the door as it had been fastened after the broken lock had been put away. I will find out what it will cost to repair it.

Have you yet shipped the bed and the box of books you recently got from Mr. Donald Gilpin's bank? I expected them to be shipped with this. Please send them right away as I expect to leave here about January 5th to be gone for two or three weeks, and it will be necessary to have them arrive before I go.

The bill for getting out the four poster bed and delivering it and the settee to Dr. Forster at Cragmor are to be charged to him.

Very truly yours,
