My dear Miss Gilpin:

We appreciate your work and your standards but do not want you to put any extra time or expense on this exhibit. I feel quite sure that the twenty duplicates you have on hand could be made into a wonderful exhibit. We appreciate the book and the complete story but as I said before think that each print can as well stand on its own merits. The simplest thing, then, would be to send the twenty you have and let us put them up. If, however, your artistic soul must be appeased, you may set your own time after April 10.

Very truly yours -
