Dear Miss Gilpin:

In the course of locating transparencies and photographs to fill a request I had received from one of our editorial clients I called Fritz Henle who told me that you had done a very beautiful book on Yucatan--which, I am ashamed to say, I have not seen.

Since the request I am working on is for color and black and white of Yucatan I was wondering if possibly you might not have a world of material other than the selection which was published.

By some strange chance I overlooked your name when we were sending out announcements of the opening of Photo-Library, our new stock color library, so I am enclosing one now. I hope that this description of our aims and method of operation will appeal to you sufficiently to give me the opportunity of showing your Yucatan material to our client.

Since the deadline on this request is rather soon, may I hear from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours,

Sarah Jordan
