Dear Laura Gilpin:

We have carefully gone through all of your Indian material. I am very sorry that we did not have it sooner, because some of your Navajo Fair material is much better than the material we finally selected for a feature on the Navajo Fair and which has been in the hands of the printers for about four months.

Of the group of material that you have sent us, we would like to hold the transparency of the Navajo Lady in the covered wagon and also the Navajo girl displaying a prize winning old-time dress at the Navajo fair.

We will probably not have occasion to use these until next spring, but would like to hold them in our file to have them on hand. Should you need them at any time, wire me collect and we shall send them along to you right away.

Your material is grand - I will be very proud when we have you as a regular contributor to our publication.

Sincerely,

Raymond Carlson
