Dear Miss Gilpin:

Thank you for sending us your 32 color transparencies.

Unfortunately, as you intimated yourself, your photographs do not have sufficient human interest for our present editorial requirements. However, you certainly do fine color work, and we would be happy to have you submit other material in the future.

Should you wish to send us your photographs of the Navaho people, we would be glad to give them careful consideration. Also, if you have any tightly-knit picture stories on animal life or scientific or historically interesting subjects -- please let us see these as well.

Thanks for your continued interest in the National Geographic Magazine.

Sincerely yours,

William C. Baughman
