Dear Nellie.

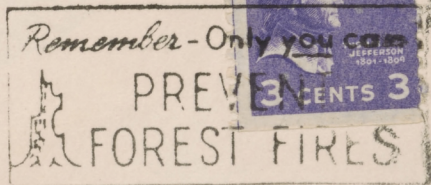

Thank you very much for your understanding sympathy. I can't tell you how many times I have thought of your wise advice about relaxing e.g. you said when Elisabeth was hunting feverishly for something "Do you need it now? No? Then wait, it will turn up". It does - it turns in other ways, too. I have said to myself over & over these months especially "Commit

bring it to pass —

She had slept all night (as she always did and most of the days too) and slept peacefully away at 8:10 am. Dear Roberto, who has been so very thoughtful & kind, made me promise to call him any time of day or night and I was thankful it was

I talked to her at 8 to finish our breakfasts, so she did not expect her to go so soon —

My love & thanks to you.

Sarah.
