My dear Miss Gilpin:

We are boxing up and returning to you the nine photographs listed on the attached sheet. Some of these are quite clearly damaged by local discoloration. A couple of them seem to be off-color all over. Unfortunately, this type of color typifies quite a few others in our collection, and we do not know whether it was intended as the standard or whether all of them should be characterized by the carbon grays and blacks which others show. The replacement of those which are not regionally different we must leave to your determination.

If you do have an opportunity to come through Detroit on your way East, I hope that you will do so.

Sincerely,

Robert T. Hatt
