Dearest Laura:-

Of course I will send what you wrote me about, and love to. Your letter came this morning and I telephoned my lawyer of many years, Mr. M. G. Seipp, Sheppard and Seipp, 37 Wall St., N. Y. C. 5, N. Y., and told him that I wanted to do as much as I could. I had to send him some of your information -- please forgive me for not asking your permission, but I thought haste was important, and he is wise, kind, and keeps his mouth shut. Since I have been able to see so little, he has to take care of all money and business matters for me. You will be hearing from him.

I know now difficult it was for you to ask, and I am distressed that you have had so much worry, beside the illness, and having to be driven home. I loved seeing you, and I am still hearing what delight you gave the friends who saw your pictures here, as well as to me. I hope you can read this -- I can't! But I want to let you know at once, The troops are coming to the stockade!

Christmas (and other days) love and good luck to you/ and Betsey from

Ann
