Dear Laura:

Your misgivings notwithstanding, we are very pleased with the photographs now that we have them all laid out and can get a full cross-section of your efforts. And we are also very happy about the final transparency of the bowl.

I am terribly sorry that misfortune has seemingly dogged your footsteps and I only hope that matters are straightening out now more to your liking. And I certainly hope that the new house helps to put things on the plus side.

Margret continues to show good recovery and progressively is getting her hand back into her work. The work shop is everything that she hoped for and is a joy to her, I am sure. There are a few days when other matters monopolize her time but usually she manages four or five hours of work.

Please accept my thanks - no end - for the photographs. I am sure they can be worked into a very worth while story and I am sure that you have every reason to be proud of them.

Please take care of yourself and we shall hope to be seeing you.

Yours,

C. C. Withers
