Dear Cousin Laura,

I assume we missed you on your trip east, and, if so, I am very sorry. I wanted you to meet my wife. We are planning very tentatively, however, an automobile trip through the west - my wife is from San Angelo, Texas - next year perhaps, and will look forward to seeing you there then.

We met recently a young German, from Berlin, who is an art book publisher. His firm printed the book on Modern German art for the Museum of Modern Art here, and he is on his first trip to this country. He just left for the west coast, and is returning via Santa Fe, which he has always wanted to see, so I took the liberty of giving him your name. I thought that if you had a moment to spare you might show him the museum there, and give him any advice or assistance, as his time is limited. And I thought you might be interested in meeting him. If you do not have any time, do not hesitate to tell him so, but if you can help, it would be much appreciated. Santa Fe seemed to be the main place he wanted to see in the U.S. His name is Fritz Hartmann, and he may call you or drop you a note.

I hope all is well with you, and please let us know what you are up to when you get a chance.

With best regards,

Lewis Allen
