Dear Mrs. Frances:-

Yesterday I mailed you the first transparencies even though I was sure that they were too dense, and contrasty. I went out again this morning and have made a new set, this time including a figure in scene, and also taking rugs of my own to help the floor. Yesterday was a typical brilliant New Mexico day and one that makes interiors containing windows particularly difficult. Today was overcast, at least in the morning, so all factors were better.

This second set should reach you by the time I promised you over the phone, so that I sincerely trust they will be in time. I am getting them in the mail in an hour, as soon as they are dry, and should make an earlier plane than yesterday. I do hope that you will like the inclusion of the little Pueblo woman. These people express just what Eames was meaning of care and love. I enclose a release for her, and I hope that everything will now meet your deadline.

Sincerely yours,
