Dear Mrs. Reisinger:-

No word has ever come from you about the portraits I made of you last summer following both the black and white and color proofs. You may have been away on a trip or something, but I must be getting this work finished up. There were several of the color proofs which would yield excellent finished prints.

Unless I receive all the proofs back, I shall have to bill you for the time and work. This ofcourse will be applied with your order when I receive it.

Hoping that all is well with you, I am

Very sincerely yours,
