Gentlemen:-

Herewith I am returning the plastic seat covers which came a short while ago. I regret not being able to use them. I did not realize that the installation was such a major undertaking. When the metal strips are removed on the back of the seats of my car, the upholstery all comes loose and would be difficult to replace properly without special tools. Perhaps when my seats are worn, I can put on the better kind that are illustrated in one of the folders you enclosed.

In repacking the box, I was not able to find the original cover which I somehow replaced. After making a new lid and tying up the box, I did find the original but it did not seem worth while to undo it all just to use a lid.

Perhaps at some future time I can use some of your products which are certainly excellent.

Very truly yours,
