Dear Mr. Evans:-

I have a request from a client of mine to purchase a print of the portrait I made of your mother at Embudo, some years ago. I cannot remember now just what the reason for this was, it was some publicity as I recall it. She was outdoors, a back lighted photograph, smiling, and I hope it still is a satisfactory portrait of her.

I never sell a portrait photograph that I have made of anyone without the consent of the person or family. So is it all right with you if I make a print for this gentleman? I believe he saw a copy of this that Mabel must have given to Miss Merrill at the Taos Book Shop.

Thank you very much for your answer, I tried to reach you by phone but found you were in the East.

Sincerely yours,
