Dear Laura:

I hasten to send the enclosed proof sheets for your examination. I have purposely trimmed them away from the black and white pages which were not satisfactory on this particular go round as they were working for the color proofs alone. I feel quite encouraged by the quality of the color work, the only disappointment from my point of view being the necessary cropping of the lower part of the cover picture in order to stick with the format. On the other hand, most people who have examined the material without having first seen your original photograph feel that the Indian picture with the white antelope blanket is a real bomb, especially in terms of attracting sales. The reception desk girls can hardly wait to get their hands on this particular item as Indian things seem to be doing well at the moment.

We expect to be out in December to pack the collection so I will be seeing you then. In the meantime, I will send further proofs as I receive them.

Yours,

Mitchell A. Wilder
