RE: Indian Arts Fund Opening, January 27, 1966

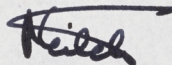

The opening festivities for the IAF show will be held at the Amon Carter Museum on Thursday night, January 27. Inasmuch as this date coincides with the annual stock show madness in Fort Worth, it is imperative that we make advance reservations for you.

Would you please jot on the back of this memo names, numbers, and type of accommodations needed for yourselves as well as any others who may be coming; also arrival and departure dates. We can always release space, but after the 15th of January it is virtually impossible to get anything.

For yourselves, I hope you will plan to be with us Wednesday night until Saturday, as there will be clean-up and checking of the show before it opens, and of course the usual post-mortem pleasures on Friday following; and if you like four-footed, cloven-hoofed animals, the show is just across the street from the Museum.

Please plan to be our guests.

Yours,

Mitchell A. Wilder
