Dear Miss Gilpin,

Thank you so very much for your quick response to our telegram requesting permission to reproduce one of your photographs on THE CATHOLIC HOUR-TV.

The photograph in question is the beautiful Western mission scene from RIO GRANDE, RIVER OF DESTINY. We use it to represent the Christian nature of the early Southwest, and indeed, of the specifically Catholic influence in the early days of our country generated through Spanish and French explorers and missionaries. Credit will be given you and the book visually, at the close of the program. Credit will also be given Duell, Sloan, and Pearce, Inc. as publishers, in the printed copies of the scripts which we make available to our viewers upon request. This arrangement has proven satisfactory in the past, and likewise in this present series, with several publishers agreeing to this credit. If questions arise, you may assure Duell, Sloan, and Pearce that no other publisher will receive visual credit at the program's close.

Thank you again -- for your promptness and kindness.

Sincerely,

Louise Clay
