Dear Miss Gilpin:

Reference to your letter of June 1, 1967, and our visit the same week, I am still trying to make an appointment for you. I have not been able to confer with the Chairman on the subject matter since he has been out of town most of last week and again this week. As soon as I make an appointment for you, I will call you.

Thank you for showing the draft of your book to the people I was with in Santa Fe. These are the people who have been very much interested in Indian crafts and any other information on Indian handicrafts. I am certain that they are sincere and would appreciate having you and your publishing company to work with them whenever your book is available.

Best regards and good health.

Yours truly,
