Dear Miss Gilpin:

I have received your most wonderful book. We think it is "The Book" of all Navaho books ever been published. We thank you ever so much for the autographed copy. We shall treasure it from now on.

Our daughter, Gloria, the little girl in the picture, is a grown lady now and is working as a secretary here at the College. She is interested in obtaining one of these books and would appreciate the source.

I happened to be in San Francisco last week, and some friends of ours asked if the book has been published. Of course, I didn't know, but they have been taking advance orders on hopes that it would be out soon. Now I can tell them that the book is out and they can expect their order soon.

We have moved to Many Farms, and I am working in the establishment of the Navaho Community College. This is really one of the important steps ever taken by an Indian tribe and the whole Indian nation is looking on the Navaho for such a historic effort in the education field.

May the best be in your favor from above.

Sincerely,

Ned A. Hatathli
Executive Vice President
