

Dear Laura -

Are you home? I planned to call you again after your day in the country to ask you how it was and to say "an revoir" and like so many of my plans I didn't! Paul has had the second eye operation and now waits the irritating period when stitches come out one by one, another three or four weeks, but he has temporary glasses and can read & dial the phone himself. It was good to see you and so full of pep in spite of the arthritis. I don't remember whether I gave you the doctor's name & address and we did speak of your friend so if he does decide to come East -
