Dear Laura:

Delighted to have your news that all is going well with the book, show, etc. We are getting to work on the matboard and will try to have them enroute to you before the day is out. Also I'm enclosing a check covering the approximate cost of the enlargements. We can work out details later should there be some differentials.

I'm glad that you two have been able to work out the problems of the book. These last minute changes always seem to occur; the gremlins creeping in from sources which we are never able to pin down. I am sure that if you had been sitting on the desk at the time, there would still have been something at the last minute which would have required revision. Let's all be glad that it is something that can be solved easily.

Do hope that Betsy is comfortable even though she is losing ground. She is such a dear and so patient, it is really tragic that she must waste away in this manner. It is hard to believe the osteopath has been able to put you back on your feet in such shape that you talk of driving back to Texas. You know best, so we will leave it up to you to make the decision how you wish to travel. Greetings to you.

Sincerely,

Mitchell A. Wilder
