Dear Laura:

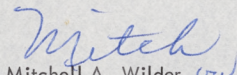

Just a line re. the invitations for the opening of your show in December.

We generally send out invitations which serve a dual purpose, i.e., as an announcement of the show as well as to invite people to the reception. The wording, as you know, is rather formal (I am sure you have received these in the past).

It occurs to me that we might dress up the appearance, however, by using some little photograph that you could supply. I recall there was some small "device" in the Navaho book, or perhaps you could think of a specific picture that would reduce to small size and still retain its brilliance and message. If so, fire it along.

Greetings.

Yours,

Mitchell A. Wilder
