Dear Bill:

This is a very late answer to your nice letter and a very belated thank you for the nice review you wrote of The Enduring Navaho. You will be interested to hear that I have just had word from Mr. Wardlaw that we are going to press again for a second edition, sometime early in the year. This is very good news indeed.

I have not heard a word from the University of New Mexico Press about the possible reprint of The Rio Grande though, of course, I hope eventually I will hear from them.

Please drop by again whenever you are in this part of the country. It is always a pleasure to talk shop and to hear all your news.

With best wishes,
