Dear Miss Gilpin:

Attached are some copies of our recent issue, containing your photographs in the lead article.

We're extremely happy with the photographs, although we suffer great anxiety whenever we use good pictures because the reproduction is so difficult on our paper stock. (We had to reshoot the plate for Luke Yazzie, and it still is barely passable!) Fortunately, the great warmth and expressiveness of your photographs does come through, and for that, at least, we're grateful.

I'll soon be returning to you the photos which we didn't use. However, I've forwarded the ones we did use to the American Alumni Council in Washington for possible inclusion in their annual exhibit of photographs from alumni publications. I believe you said there would be an additional charge if we kept these photos, so if you would bill me I'll send you a check.

I can send you more copies of the Magazine if you find use for them. Don't hesitate to ask.

Cordially,

Conrad Kulawas
