Dear Miss Gilpin:

A friend in New York who subscribes to the London Times sent me the enclosed review from the Times Literary Supplement and suggested I pass it along to you. She says she can't remember how long ago she clipped it and forgot to send it.

At any rate, no matter how late, I feel sure you will be pleased with its content. From my own viewpoint, I don't think the reviewer gave nearly enough stress to your remarkable photography.

Sincerely yours,

Wilma L. Bell
