Dear Betsy:-

Enclosed please find the bill for the two photographs. I am pleased that they meet your requirements. I am sure you know publishers requirements that credit be given to "The Enduring Navaho" by L.G. The Santa Fe Plaza needs only L. Gilpin. I'm not so fussy, but the University of Texas Press is.

It has been nice to hear from you again. I just had a note from Ag Donaldson enclosing a clipping about Fred Bartlett's retirement from the Art Center effective as of next July 1. Colorado Springs is such a changed place that one hardly recognizes some parts of it. I was up just a year ago and couldn't believe the development in all the eastern area as well as south and west. But all cities change. Santa Fe has doubled since I came here to live and Albuquerque must be five or six times its former size. Now almost solid east to the Sandia Mountains.

With the best of wishes,
