

Dear, dear Laura Gilpin:

Your beautiful ^{looks and} photographs of "The Enduring Navaho" have given me great joy! I had hoped for the pleasure of reading it before writing. But my hectic life makes me do what I must not what I wish.

I leave for Europe tomorrow to find an isolated mountain top where I can hibernize long enough ^{to} ~~to~~ ^{be} recharge my worn out batteries.

It is so what I hear and read in the press your unending efforts to help the Indians, is at last paying off. A noble job that now must give you satisfaction

This is Nell Scott with her grand son. We speak of you so often.
I shall return in the fall. when I shall hope to come west again and we can really have some time together. Please keep well and happy! With admiration and affection always - Please to give this Lillian Tuck.
