Dear Miss Gilpin,

I recently bought a copy of your delightful Enduring Navajo and the U. T. Press provided me with your address so I could write to you.

So many experts have praised your work that there is little that I, as an admiring novice, can add. The book is simply magnificent! One photograph in particular has captivated my interest -- the family portrait preceding page 250. Do you sell any prints at all? If so, how could I arrange with you for a copy of that photograph to include in my own personal collection of "things that matter"?

Thank you again for portraying my friends the Navajo so well.

Sincerely,

(Miss) Sylvia Grider
