Dear Miss Gelpin,

In going over my last bank statement I noticed my returned cancelled check for $25 which I had sent you for a print of one of your photographs from the Enduring Navajo. Since I have not yet received the print, I wanted to write and check with you about it. I have been out of town a great deal these past few weeks and have had some packages returned to the senders by the post office by mistake. Could my print from you be a victim of this same mix up? If it has been returned to you by the P.O. or if you have not mailed it yet, would you please mail it to me at the school where I teach rather than my home address?

Thank you so much,
