TO: MEMBERS OF THE INDIAN TABLE

The last meeting of our Indian Table in the current academic year will take place on Wednesday, May 19th. We will gather, as usual, in the senior commons room of the Peterson Student Center at 6:00 P.M., have dinner at 6:30 P.M. downstairs in the dining room, and return upstairs to the junior commons room at 7:30 P.M. for our speaker and discussion period.

The speaker for this last session of the season will be the well known Pulitzer Prize winning author Scott Momaday, who has very graciously agreed to talk to us about the challenges, rewards, satisfactions and frustrations of Indian life in America today. I think we are very lucky to have him and look forward to the kind of insights he can provide us into this subject which is of such interest in our own area.

Please advise on the enclosed postcard whether or not you plan to attend or call Mrs. Durcan at 982-3691, extension 27.

Sincerely yours,

J. Burchenal Ault
Vice President
