Dear Miss Gilpin:

I am leaving for San Diego tomorrow morning, and I wanted to settle the matter of the gift before then. Our lawyer advises strongly against our participation, and I have tried to call you this evening with this comment. It is now 9:40, and I fear you are either out or I would not want to disturb you. I regret this turn of events, and offer my sympathy for Mrs. Da. We would, of course, welcome her gifts, but she may need to make other plans at this time.

Mrs. Bunker is not able to attend the opera meeting. Instead, she has gone to London. I have told her of you, and urged your meeting. You will enjoy her and she you.

Thank you for your comments about the Indian materials. They are very helpful.

Your news is marvelous. I am pleased for you and those who will enjoy your book on Canyon de Chelly.

Your prints for the Fine Arts Center need not be mounted. A glossy duplicate of each would be helpful, but not necessary.

Every good wish

Milo
