Dear Ms. Gilpin:

Dillon Press is publishing a biography of Annie Wauneka written by Mary Carroll Nelson, who also wrote our book on Maria Martinez. The two books are part of our series on American Indians for Junior High age readers.

In your lovely book THE ENDURING NAVAHO, I have come across several photos that would be very meaningful in our book, and we would like to get your permission to use a few in our book. Specifically, they are:

- p. 64-65 Any picture of a hogan.
- p. 92-93 The little shepherd.
- p. 164 Tribal Council building, Window Rock.
- p. 170 Annie Wauneka in 1954.
- p. 222 Bread making at a squaw dance.

Please let us know the charge for reproducing these - we would need black-and-white prints; of course, we will be glad to print any credit line you specify. Since the book is nearing completion, we are in urgent need of photos and would very much appreciate hearing from you as soon as possible.

Thank you for any assistance you can give us!

Sincerely,

Helen K. Tegenfeldt
