

Feb. 27
1974

Miss Harriet Lyons,
MS Magazine,
370 Lexington Ave.,
New York City.

Dear Miss Lyons:-

Thank you for your letter of the 21st. I am glad to hear from you. I know only too well how one gets delayed over and over again. I am wondering about the script that will accompany the pictures you are going to use. When Ms. Steinem and Dr. Wittgenstein were here, their conversation seemed in no way like an interview. I hope that it was not too great a shock to Ms. Steinem to find someone who didn't know who she was nor one who had never heard of your magazine! You see, I just work, and since I have been more or less laid up with a bad back and on crutches for a long time, I don't get around very much. I have laughed a lot over that visit and wondered what they thought of me. So if you want any other information just ask.

Dr. Wittgenstein wrote me such a nice letter after seeing my show at the Witkin Gallery. I did appreciate it greatly. I am anxious to see what she produced with such a stout, aging person as myself; it was easy to see she knows her job.

I have never had any reason to be concerned about women's lib. Somehow it just isn't necessary in this part of the country, and my only concern is to produce the best work I am capable of.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

That was a beautiful spread you had recently on coverlets.