Dear Ms. Gilpin:

Enclosed is a copy of one of your early photographs that was made into a post card. The card belongs to the Maxwell Museum Library and I must ask you to please return it.

I have sent it because I thought it would make matters of correspondence much easier. I am very interested in this particular photo and would like very much to obtain your permission to use it in one of our archeological reports. You will, of course, receive full credit.

This office is currently conducting an intensive archeological survey in the immediate area in which the picture was taken. Furthermore, we are presently studying the Navajo remains and anticipate several publications covering them. Your photo would certainly be a tremendous addition to our manuscript. I, therefore, hope you will grant us permission to copy it. Should you still have the negative, it would ensure us a better published print.

I would certainly appreciate hearing from you and to learn if you have other phototgraphs of Navajo subjects in the region along the Chaco Wash, southwest of Farmington, New Mexico.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Albert E. Ward
