Dear Laura:

Just a note to say hello and to let you know that we were recently given a photograph by you entitled, Peony, 1928. The owner was a Mrs. Anne Crowley of Rhinbeck, New York. I believe you know her.

The photograph has the look of a platinum but I am not sure. The surface is not so mat and there seems to be a slight 'silver' sheen on the surface. Could the print be one of those silver bromide mat prints popular at that time?

The picture is a delight and we are, of course, very happy to add it to the others by you in our collection.

Trust all goes well. I had hoped to get out that way this past summer but it didn't work out. Very busy with a new school year and I am hard at work on an anthology of readings on photography. The book is tentatively entitled, "The Identity of Photography." I hope to have it out in a year or so.

Hope you are well and know that I send warm regards.

Cordially,
