AMERICAN HORSE'S CAMP

Photographed by L. A. Huffman during the early years of the Cheyenne Reservation in Southeastern Montana. Chief American Horse, proud and disdain-ful of reservation life and the white-man's rations, established his camp as far from the Agency headquarters as he was permitted.

The hand colored photograph made from the original old glass-plate negative is on display at Coffrin's Old West Gallery in Miles City, Montana.
